BETTER THAN WAR.

The Behring Sea Controversy Decried Against Us.

BUT WITH SOME CRUMBS OF COMFORT

But After All the Seal Herds are to be Protected From Annihilation—American Statesmen Express Themselves as Satisfied.

PARIS, Aug. 16.—At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the Behring sea arbitrators held a private session in a room used by officials of the department of foreign affairs at the Quai d'Orsay.

At 11 o'clock the arbitrators reassembled in the room in the forenoon office in which the sessions had been held. Baron De Courcel, the president of the tribunal, then delivered to the agents of the United States and Great Britain original correspondence of the decision signed by all the arbitrators.

Meanwhile Baron De Courcel addressed the arbitrators, saying that he recognized the great value of arbitration as a means of settling international disputes. He expressed the opinion that every international arbitration renders war less possible, and said he looked forward to the time in the near future when it would be the rule and not the exception for settling international difficulties in this way.

Senator John Morgan, of the American arbitrators, and Lord Hannon, one of the arbitrators appointed by Great Britain, responded to Baron De Courcel's declaration that they reciprocated the sentiments expressed by him and recognized the hospitality extended by France to the arbitrators.

The session terminated amid mutual congratulations and expressions of good feelings. After a preamble stating the cases submitted for decision the full text of the award runs as follows:

We decide and determine as to the five points mentioned in article 8 to which our award is to embrace a distinct discussion upon each of them.

As to the first of said five points we, Baron De Courcel, John M. Morgan, Lord Hannon, Sir John D. Thompson, Margherita Emilio Visconti-Venosta and Gregorio W. W. Gram, being a majority of said arbitrators, decide as follows:

On the basis of 1821 Russia claimed jurisdiction in the sea now known as Behring sea to extend to 100 Italian miles from the coast of Alaska. WAR IN THE WEST.

A Battle Between Shepherd and Cattlemen for Possession of Grazing Lands.

RIFLE CO., Aug. 15.—It was reported last night that war had broken out between the cattlemen and sheepmen on the Mesa north of Parachute, and that three cattlemen were killed and the sheepmen penned up in a canyon and fighting stubbornly. Sunday evening Mr. Billeter, a well-known sheepman, arrived from Parachute and reported that early in the morning a party of thirty armed and masked men arrived on the Mesa, among the sheep men and put a rope around one man's neck and drove the balance of the herders and sheep out of the country and warned them not to drive the sheep back into the country under penalty of death.

On Monday a formidable band of sheepmen started to drive the sheep back again. The fight is supposed to be the result. A number of cattlemen were killed. The sheepmen were armed and ammunition and reported the fight. Particulars are meager, as the scene of the fight is remote.

A BLOODY RACE WAR.

As the Result of a Lynching Momentarily Expected.

FEARED AT YELLOW SPRINGS, OHIO.

Several Hundred Men in Hot Pursuit of a Colored Desperado Known to Have Committed One Murder and Suspected of Several.

CHICKEN, Aug. 16.—A special from Yellow Springs, O., says:

"This village is with excitement over the momentary expectation of a lynching. William Whaley, the colored desperado who so foully murdered a man named Hoppling, yesterday, for his money, and who is suspected of three other similar murders that have occurred here within the past month, was taken to a stone quarry near the town late tonight. The quarry was surrounded by several hundred armed men, but in the darkness Whaley made his escape and ran to the woods with the mob at his heels. He will almost certainly be lynched, in which case the threats of lynching will surely be put into execution at once.

Sherriff Dugan arrived here from Xenia with a posse of deputies, but will not be able to cope with the desperate mob.

Nearly one-half of the town's population are colored people. The latter, nearly 800 in number, are also armed with rifles and shotguns, and they declare that Whaley must be given a fair trial. They threatened a night, and if Whaley is lynched a bloody race war is feared.
